

Jerry the canary

Illustrated by Samantha Tay

for my mom and michael.

Jerry the canary

"Hey PB, long time no see!" Jerry chirps, "How's Santa doing?"

"Things aren't so good here Jerry, it keeps getting warmer and our home is melting." The Polar Bear says. "That's terrible! Come with me PB, I'll help anyway I can!" Jerry says.

“Hey Turtle!” Jerry squawks, “Why the long face?”

“Oh, hello Jerry” the turtle replies, “I want to go for a swim but there’s so much trash in the ocean.”

“Come with me, I’ll help anyway I can!” says Jerry.

“Ohhh, sorry
BW! I’ll see what I can do to help!”
Jerry replies.

“HEY BW!” Jerry screams.

“Quiet, Jerry!” The Beluga says,

“All this noise pollution is hurting my ears.”

“What’s up Elephant?”
Jerry tweets happily.
“Nothing good, Jerry, we’re being hunted for our tusks and they’ve wiped out a lot of us.” The Elephant replies, solemnly.

“That’s terrible!” Jerry peeps,
“Come along with me, I’ll help anyway I can!”

“Come with me, I’ll see what I can do!” Says Jerry.

“Hello Hippopotamus!
How’s the tan going?”
Jerry asks. “Hello, Jerry!
Things are alright, except that it’s so hot out that our water is drying up and I can’t cool off.” The Hippo says.

Jerry visits his friend, the Black Rhino, and discovers that poachers have been driving their population near extinction as well. "Come with me, I'll help if I can!"

Jerry tweets.

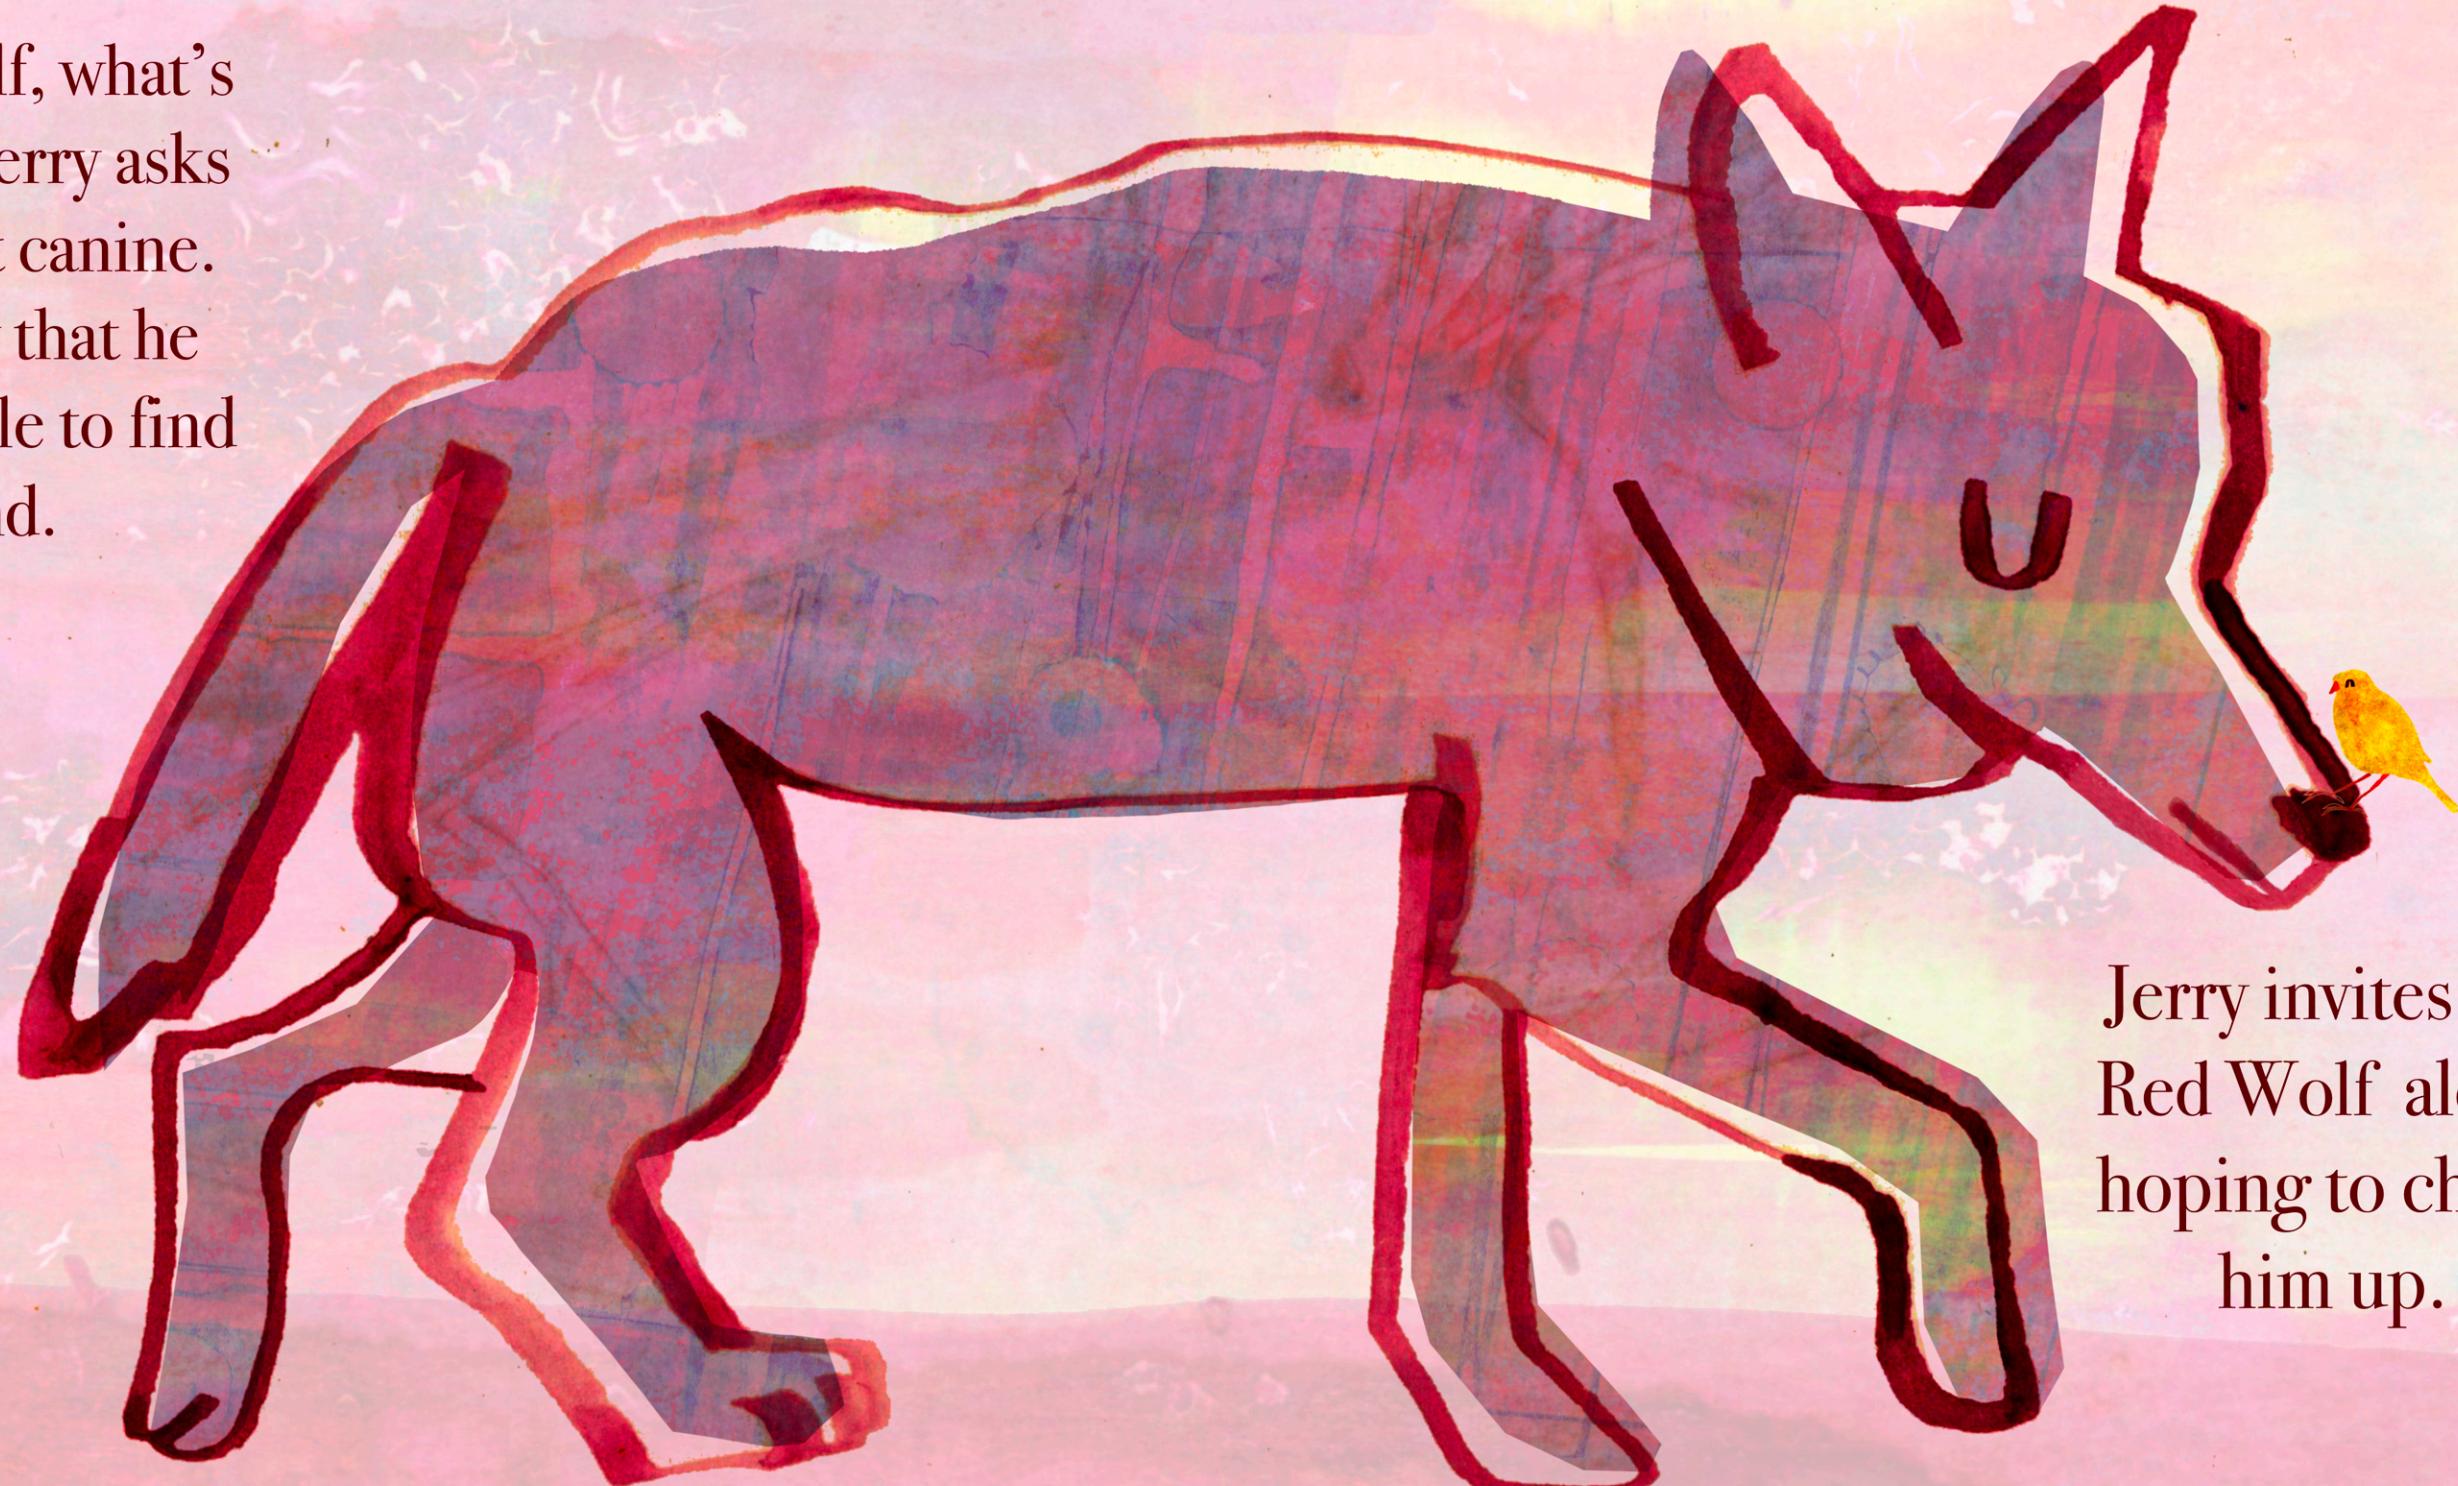

Jerry visits a Jaguar resting in a tree,
only to learn that him and his friends are being hunted for their coats. Jerry invites the Jaguar along too.

“What is it, Jerry?” The Great White Shark asks, “Fisherman have been coming through here frequently, my friends and my food are being overfished.” Nervously, Jerry invites the apex predator along.

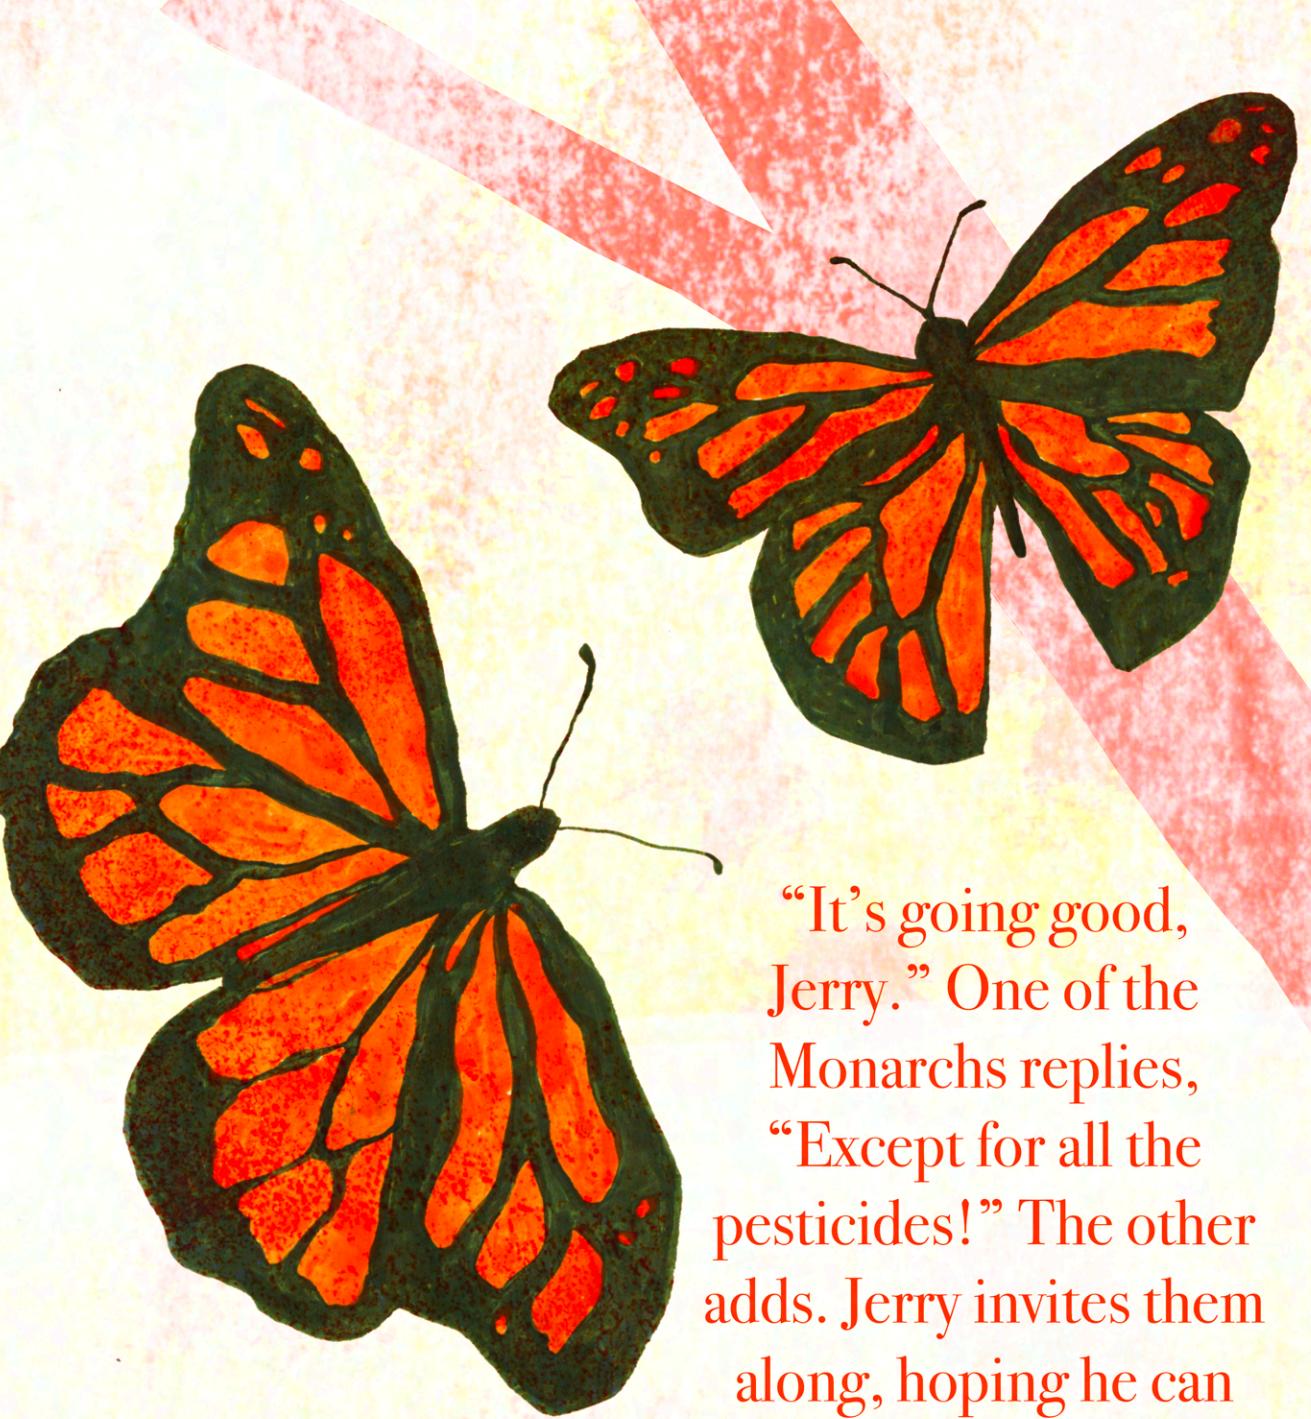

"Hey Red Wolf, what's the matter?" Jerry asks the distraught canine.

He tells Jerry that he hasn't been able to find his friend.

Jerry invites the Red Wolf along hoping to cheer him up.

“Hey there guys,” says Jerry.
“How’s the pollination coming along?”

“It’s going good, Jerry.” One of the Monarchs replies, “Except for all the pesticides!” The other adds. Jerry invites them along, hoping he can be of some help.

Jerry is a little bird who travels the big world, all the way from the sandy beaches of North America to the freezing waters the Arctic, in order to help his endangered animal friends. Join Jerry the Canary in learning about different animals around the world and how you can make a difference in this illustrated adventure!